Employers

Use this form to offer eligible employees their choice of super fund. You must fill in the details of your nominated super fund, also known as your default fund, before giving the form to employees.

Give this form to an employee when:

- you hire a new employee who is eligible to choose a super fund
- an existing eligible employee asks you for it
- you can no longer contribute to an employee's nominated super fund or it is no longer a complying fund
- you change your employer-nominated super fund and need to advise employees affected by this change.

Employees

Use this form to advise an employer of your choice of super fund.

You must provide the required information so your employer can make contributions to your nominated super fund.

About the form

The Standard choice form has three sections:

- Section A, which the employee completes by providing details of their choice of super fund, together with supporting documents.
- Section B, which the employer completes by providing details of their nominated super fund (before they give the form to an employee).
- Section C, which the employer completes to document the choice process for an employee.

Employers must retain the returned form as their record of the choice process. Completed forms must be retained for five years.

Item 3

Nominating your APRA fund or RSA

Complete this item if you are nominating your own APRA fund (fund regulated by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority) or a retirement savings account (RSA).

You must include the unique superannuation identifier (USI) provided by your fund.

You must attach a letter from the fund trustee or RSA provider confirming that the fund or RSA:

- is a complying fund or RSA, and
- will accept payments from your employer.

Item 4

Nominating your self-managed super fund (SMSF)

Things you should know

- Your employer is not liable for the performance of the super fund you or they nominate
- You should not seek financial advice from your employer unless they are licensed to provide it
- You can change the fund your employer pays your super into at any time by filling out this form and returning it to your employer
- Your employer is only required to accept one choice of fund from you in a 12-month period; however, they may accept more
- Your employer has two months after you return this form to them to action your request
- Any money you have in existing funds will remain there unless you arrange to transfer it (roll it over) to another fund – before you transfer your super, consider any impacts, including loss of insurance, fund performance or any fees or charges you may incur. If unsure, you may want to seek independent financial advice
- if you quote your TFN to your employer for super purposes, they must provide it to the super fund

You may have lost super

- It is important to keep track of your super – if you've ever changed your name, address or job, you may have lost track of some of your super
- Having multiple super accounts could mean you are paying fees you are unaware of, which could reduce your retirement savings. Your super is your money, you should check it regularly
- You can manage your super using ATO online services through myGov. This will enable you to view details of all your super accounts, including any you may have lost track of. You can use ATO online services to consolidate eligible multiple accounts. Before consolidating any accounts, consider impacts such as insurance, fees, and fund performance.
