Characteristics of the student body

Aquinas College Gold Coast opened its doors in 1964 with 136 boys administered by the Christian Brothers. Aquinas College became a coeducational school in 1991 when Star of the Sea Southport closed. Today, Aquinas College operates as an integral entity of the Southport Catholic Parish within the Archdiocese of Brisbane and under the authority of Brisbane Catholic Education. Aquinas students are mainly drawn from schools on the northern end of the Gold Coast, particularly the Catholic primary schools, Guardian Angels, St Francis Xavier, St Kevin's, Jubilee and St Brigid's. 2015 has seen the inclusion of Year 7 students grow the College to 1150 students. Much of the richness students bring to Aquinas is a product of their homes and the very real quality of students that is so evident at Aquinas is due in no small measure to the good students here and to their loving families. The learning community of Aquinas College is animated by a spirit of freedom, love and mercy, wherein each student is able to experience respect, self-worth and unconditional acceptance.

Our distinctive curriculum offerings

Year 7 is transition between structures and processes of primary into the diverse and dynamic organisation of secondary school. Year 7s are nurtured by core teachers and gradually experience the full life of Aquinas College through electives and integration into the academic, spiritual, pastoral and co-curricular offerings.

The curriculum offered in Year 7 welcomes students to the whole range of learning faculties. Students study the core subjects of Religious education, English, Mathematics, Science, History, HPE. They are also introduced to the Arts (Visual Art, Music and Drama), Technology (Hospitality, Industrial Technology and Design and Information Communication Technology) and LOTE (Japanese) through studying these subjects for part of the year. Year 8 & 9 students choose a number of electives to complement their core study subjects. Year 10 students choose from a wider number of electives. Students in Years 11 and 12 study 6 senior subjects including Study of Religion or Religion and Ethics and English or English Communication.

Aquinas College offers a wide range of subjects that cater for students, varying interests and abilities. Particular note is Rugby League, Netball and Athletics classes of Excellence in Years 7 - 10, that have also added an even greater variety to the Aquinas College Physical Education Program. In addition, there are a range of co-curricular activities that enhance learning and build relationships.

How Information and Communication Technologies are used to assist learning

Information and Communication Technologies are critical in assisting student learning. At Aquinas College student learning is assisted by ICT in the following ways:

- Communication, collaboration, information research and interactivity.
- Presenting information in an electronic format.
- Allowing students to present work more professionally.
- International collaboration and communication.
- Preparing students for the real world.
- Processing data
- The use of Industry standard tools.
- Using professional architecture software and creating original arrangements.
- Digitalising and manipulating visual graphics and multimedia resources.
- Developing instrumental and promotional video presentation.

A focus on ethics and information discernment is a priority at all levels in the College. This is in response to research that indicates that with the move to 'digital media' a different approach needs to be taken to ensure students reap the full benefit of this information rich resource in an ethical, respectful and moral manner.

Social climate inclusive of pastoral care and our response to bullying

Aquinas College maintains a safe and happy learning community. The social climate of the College has its basis in our Mission Statement which calls for nurturing self-esteem by promoting respect for each person's uniqueness, dignity and worth in a community that promotes spiritual, emotional, cultural and intellectual assistance to each of its members. The College is organised through a vertical pastoral care structure where students from each year level work together in a Vertical Pastoral Care (VPC) class under the guidance of their VPC teacher. Groups of VPC classes form a House Group (Chisholm, Edmund Rice, McAuley, Romero) under the care of the Pastoral Leader who oversees the care of the students in that House. Pastoral care lessons cover such topics as study skills, goal setting, friendships, personal development, cyber-bullying, camp preparation, career education, driver education, healthy habits, lifestyle and relationships. The College operates a distinctive anti-bullying and cyber-bullying policy which is explained to students upon enrolment and reinforced throughout their time at the College. Students strive for excellence in a happy, safe, inclusive learning environment.

Parent, student and teacher satisfaction with the school

Parents continue to display high levels of confidence in the College. New families to the College speak about the excellent reputation of the College and report choosing the College for their child's education based on the recommendation of family and friends. Student satisfaction is very high. On exit from the College Year 12 students speak of the Aquinas spirit being supportive, passion, emotion, comradeship, fun and faith. Students also speak of being challenged in their learning and well prepared for the next stage of their journey. Students also have opportunities through the Student Representative Council to have their views heard and the feedback received is very positive.

Parent involvement in their child's education

Aquinas College believes students achieve their best when family and College work closely together. We appreciate the involvement of families:

Policy and practice to manage student attendance

Regular attendance at school is essential if students are to maximise their potential. Aquinas College in partnership with parents and guardians are responsible for promoting the regular attendance of students. Parents and Guardians are legally responsible for the regular attendance of their children, explaining the absences of their children from College promptly and taking measures to resolve attendance issues involving their children. College staff, as part of their duty of care, monitor, part or whole day absences. They maintain accurate records of student attendance, follow-up unexplained absences through written and verbal communication, implement programs and practices to address attendance issues if they occur and provide clear information to students and parents regarding attendance requirements and the consequences of unsatisfactory attendance. The Principal or delegate may grant permission for late arrival at school or early departure from school, only in individual cases, on written request from parents/guardians. Students are required to attend school regularly and punctually.
